

Katherine always loved counting - that's why she loved maths! She applied to work for NASA to solve maths problems and didn't give up until she got the job.

Katherine studied how to use geometry for space travel and without her love for maths, NASA couldn't have sent astronauts to the moon!

She is an inspirational figure as a groundbreaker for black women in STEM

Katherine Johnson